Board approves school system's salary schedule

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Pendleton County Board of Education and Superintendent, Anthony Strong, discussed the school system's proposed 2014-2015 salary schedules.

Superintendent Strong reviewed the salary schedules page by page. He invited any questions the board might have regarding the document.

Board member Daryl Mullins said that the year 22 on the certified schedule seems to pay less than would be expected. He thought that perhaps it could be made more balanced.

Board member Shawn Nordheim said that the certified schedule possessed certain pockets of favoritism that she found unsettling.

Board member William Verax said that he disagreed with the use of the word, favoritism, because it sounded like something under the table and he didn't believe that to be true.

Superintendent Strong addressed the concerns brought up by board members Mullins and Nordheim. "During the past three years district staff and I had presented to the board for approval a salary schedule format that gives certified staff a step increase each year. In the past our schedule was a combination of individual steps and blocks (that consisted of multiple year, 10-14, 14-19, etc.). The reason for this change was to make our schedule comparable to other school districts in the region," said Strong.

Board Member Tony Spence asked "Why can't we go ahead and run this out and stop communicating to people that they are going to get a $4,000 raise when we know they won't?" Strong replied that you could make the change but the cost would be more than what he wanted to recommend. The way we are adjusting may take time, but it is the most affordable method to maintain control of salaries.

After further discussion it was stated that all employees were receiving the 1% mandated by the state and a step increase equal to 1% by the district, but in some cases, the amount was far less than they anticipated due to staff looking at the current schedule and assuming that they would automatically get the next year number. In no case did anyone not get a raise. Also classified staff members got a raise of 1% and any step increase that was due to them on the schedule.

Shawn Nordheim said she was also concerned about the proposed hiring of two administrators to fill the single position of Director of Curriculum Assessment. Mrs. Nordheim said that the Director of Special Programs should be transitioned into one of those administrative posts. This, she said, would be more fiscally responsible. Superintendent Strong reminded the board members that it was approved in April to develop a transition plan to improve the Gifted and Talented program for the district. Part of the approval was for the superintendent to report back his plan to the board. The addition of the position was partly due to plan so that other staff could eventually transition to helping improve G/T work so that a second G/T teacher would be hired in 2015-16 and that an administrator position would be eliminated at that time. Mr. Strong shared with the paper that his plan for G/T and the additional curriculum position would be a savings to the district of $25,000 over a two year period based upon who is hired.

Nordheim made a motion that the approval of the salary schedules be broken into three separate votes: Administrative, Certified and Classified. Her motion immediately died for the lack of a second.

Superintendent Strong recommended that the salary schedules be approved as presented. The motion was made to approve and it received a second. Board member Nordheim voted against the motion. Everyone else voted in its support. The motion passed by a vote of 4 over 1.

Old letter found in book that was written after D-Day

While in Fleming County during the late 1980s, Donald Wenzel purchased a book at an auction in Elizaville. Inside the book he found an old letter from a man named Mel who was in the military. The letter was dated June 12, 1944. This was six days after D-Day, the Normandy Invasion of World War II. Wenzel shared the letter with The Outlook for its readers.

A written transcript is as follows:

Hello all,

Just a few lines to let you know I'm still alive and kicking. We haven't been doing much lately, just killing time till we move. I hope that isn't too far off but I would like to get a furlough first.

Since we are out in the woods I run around with just my shorts on quite a bit. Therefore I'm getting a good tan for this Texas sun really is hot. I heard that you have been having some pretty warm weather at home too.

I suppose all of you have been pretty busy the last few weeks. I know it isn't any fun with all that work.

Since the invasion has started maybe the war won't last too long now. I look forward to being home sometime in 45.

Well that is about all I know for now so I'll close. Be good and maybe I'll see you before too long. So long and good luck.

Mel

EAST PENDLETON CO. WATER DISTRICT

The East Pendleton County Water District (PWSID#0960112) purchases water from The City of Falmouth and is hereby given notification that haloacetic acid (HAA5) exceeded the maximum contaminant level for the monitoring period of 7/1/2013 to 9/30/2013.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER

Haloacetic Acid (HAA5) MCL Violation in the City of Falmouth Kentucky

Our Water System recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this incident was NOT an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened and what we are doing to correct this situation.

We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Testing results from 7/1/2013 to 9/30/2013 show that our system exceeds the standard or maximum contaminant level (MCL), for HAA5. The standard for HAA5 is 0.060 mg/L. It is determined by averaging all the samples collected at each sampling location for the past 12 months. The level of HAA5 averaged at one of our system's locations for July 2013 to Sept. 2013 was 0.065 mg/L.

What should I do?

There is nothing you need to do. You do not need to boil your water or take other corrective actions. If a situation arises where the water is no longer safe to drink, you will be notified within 24 hours.

Some people are more sensitive to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. If you have a compromised immune system, or other reason to believe that you may be at greater risk than normal, please contact your healthcare professional about drinking this water.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. If it had been an emergency, you would have been notified within 24 hours.

HAA5 are five haloacetic acid compounds which form when disinfectants react with natural organic matter in the water. "People who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer."

What is being done?

The sampling location that currently exceeds the MCL for HAA5 is served solely by the City of Falmouth's water treatment plant. The City is analyzing our water source, treatment techniques, and disinfection practices in order to determine the best alternatives for reducing the formation of HAA5. The City will routinely issue updates to inform its customers.

For more information please contact the City of Falmouth Water Treatment Plant at (859) 654-3328 or you may mail your questions to: City of Falmouth Water Treatment Plant, 308 E Shelby St., Falmouth, KY 41040.

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the State has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than one year old. Unless otherwise noted, the report level is the highest level detected.

Falmouth received a notice of violation for exceeding the MCL in reference to the Haloacetic acids parameter during the 3rd quarter of 2013 for having a quarter average of 65 and a annual running average of 63 for Haloacetic acids. The standard for Haloacetic acids is .060 mg/L. In an effort to resolve this issue numerous operational procedures are being attempted including, but not limited to , reducing disinfection to the lowest level possible without compromising health and safety, increasing the addition of activated carbon, adjust the tank levels, more frequent flushing to solve the problem. Haloacetic acids-Some people who drink water containing Haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

Our water system violated one or more drinking water standards over the past year. Even though these were not emergencies, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened and what we did to correct these situations.

We are required to monitor your drinking water for specific contaminants on a regular basis. Results of regular monitoring are an indicator of whether or not our drinking water meets health standards. During 1/1/2011-12/31/2013 we did not monitor or test for Asbestos and therefore cannot be sure of the quality of our drinking water during that time.

There is nothing you need to do at this time. You do not need to use an alternative (e.g., bottled) water supply.

The table below lists the contaminants we did not properly test for during the last year, how often we are supposed to sample for Asbestos and how many samples we are supposed to take, how many samples we took, when samples should have been taken, and the date on which follow-up samples were (or will be) taken.

contaminant	required sampling frequency	number of samples taken	samples should have been	when samples were or will be taken
1094 Asbestos	once every 9 years	0	0	waiver

What happened? Who is at risk? What is being done?

Asbestos. We are not required to test for Asbestos. We received a waiver from DOW stating this. There is no one at risk from this violation.

Please share this information with all the other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this notice directly (for example, people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.

BLANKET CREEK

It was a wonderful day Sunday. Bro. Mike Jones and his wife Jeannie came and gave a presentation of their most recent visit to India. Several of the needs for the people were met and it was good to see Mike and Jeannie again.

That evening we glorified God with a baptism at the river on the Hardin family farm. We rejoiced as did God and His angels when Brandan McDowell and Cassie Riddell were baptized in the river. At the same time rain began to fall on all of us. The funny thing was, up on the road it hadn't rained at all and the Hardins kept right on bailing hay. Maybe it is a message from God to all of us about how important it is to give your life to Jesus and have your name written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

We added Timothy Cooper to the prayer list and please pray for the families of Debbie Kessinger Howard, Mary Courtney, Karen Vogt and Terry Downard.

BUTLER BAPTIST

Bro. Daryl's message was from II Peter 3:1-7. God wants us to be prepared for the end times. Jesus is coming and we need to be focused on the things of the Lord not things of the world. Scoffers are going to come. They choose to ignore the scriptures. God is giving the world time to come and know Him before He comes back. There will be a lot of people who wish they would have accepted Jesus. As Christians we are to tell the world about our God who will forgive them of their sins and loves them.

BUTLER METHODIST

The church gathered as a praying circle at the altar during services to pray for God's instruction about the new Adam Hamilton book. The books were available for the taking. Mr. Hamilton will be speaking this coming week at the annual conference.

The Mt. Mission truck will be at our church on June 16 to pick up donated items.

Are you ready? VBS will start July 9-11 here at our church each evening from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Please tell every child in your neighborhood to get ready for the fun those three days.

Congratulations to Karla Fullwood on being ordained in the ministry on June 9 during the annual conference.

Please pray for Frank Mullikin, he has been in the hospital twice this week. Also pray for Connie Perkins, Barb Shelton, Shirley Race, the Courtney family and our seniors graduating. Praises for Granny and Pops meeting their great-great-granddaughter, for Reese getting her cast off, for Betty's experience at Class Night, for the Panches family concert in Butler and for the growing garden and helpers. God bless you and keep you until we meet again.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

Sunday morning marked a new beginning at the Chapel of Praise. Our new worship leader, Sister Carmen Williams from Brooksville opened the service with an anointed chorus "Welcome Holy Spirit." Bro. Jim Hamilton opened the service in prayer and we had several visitors.

The service was powerful as we gave way to the Holy Spirit and His leading! Our new pastor, Rev. Kevin Clos preached a message from Mark 1 titled "The Preaching of the Kingdom of God."

Jesus came and preached the three-fold message of the Kingdom of God to a lost and dying world as brought out in Mark's account of Jesus coming to the Sea of Galilee.

We are now having expository teachings at 7 p.m., on Wednesday. We welcome you and your family to join us for any of our services. For information call 859-654-6006.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

We were blessed to have the Panches family with us this week. They presented a wonderful Bluegrass Gospel concert that was enjoyed by many.

By the time you read this we will be well into "These 30 Days." Bro. Cohen will be sharing the word of the Lord each evening during the month of June. Our prayer is that we all draw closer to Christ during this time. We'll be there every evening at 7 p.m. Come join us...just as you are!

After much prayer and consideration, it has been decided to do Vacation Bible School differently this year. Beginning Sunday evening, June 15 and continuing for the next five Sunday nights, our VBS will be held at the Floral Hall at the fairgrounds. We will be there each Sunday from 6-8 p.m. It is our hope that we will be able to share the gospel message with more kids.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Bro. Nathan's message was from Proverbs 6:16-19 titled, "Spiritual Spring Cleaning."

Proverbs was written over a two hundred and fifty years time span. The first ten chapters we attribute to King Solomon. They reflect on his parents teachings, regarding wisdom. These six things the Lord hates, but seven are an abomination unto Him. A proud look, a lying tongue and hands that shed innocent blood. A heart that devise wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief. A false witness that speak lies and he that sows discord among brethren. The solution to get rid of these things, is to do a spring cleaning. Get rid of sin. Ask for forgiveness and sin no more.

VBS for ages three years

(must be potty trained) to fifth grade, will be June 17-20. Registration starts at 6:15 p.m., and VBS will be from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN

Sunday was another beautiful morning at FMC. It's great to see new faces in the congregation once again!

Sunday morning's message reminded us that the spiritual house that we are being built-up as is a house built by God and not fallible man. It is a house who's foundation is the very living stone, Jesus Christ. He is the solid, and unchanging rock. Lastly, it is a house made of many living stones, that is, all believers standing firm on Jesus. We all have a useful place in God's spiritual house. We must be built upon Jesus.

Sunday evening's message was about Christians entering God's rest. Though we are no longer controlled by sin, it is still among us. Now we have the power to attack and destroy it!

Join us every second Sunday of the month at 6 p.m. for our second Sunday hymn sing!

FIRST BAPTIST

What a wonderful Sunday morning at First Baptist Church! We began by recognizing our only senior, Darien Higgins. After a slide presentation, we presented Darien with gifts from his church family. Congratulations Darien, on all your accomplishments and best wishes in the future.

Bro. Harry's message was taken from Romans. There is always going to be good and bad times in our lives. Never give up for God is in control. He is our hope! We need to learn from our mistakes, just don't repeat them. We were put here to worship God. Praise Him every day and let others see Jesus in you.

Our shut-in of the month is Janis Wiggins, 5600 Hwy 159 N., Falmouth, KY 41040. Send her a card to brighten her day.

"A Bible falling apart, usually belongs to someone who isn't."

HARVEST COMMUNITY

Congratulations to our graduates; Danielle Daugherty, Katie Colemire, Casey Redden, Claudia Trimabach and the Class of 2014. May God bless each one as they begin a new chapter in their lives.

Bro. Dale's morning message was based on Nehemiah 8:1-12 titled, "Bring Us the Book." We should listen carefully to every verse of God's word and ask the Holy Spirit to help us answer the question, "How does this apply to my life?"

Upcoming opportunities: Youth quarter auction at 6 p.m., Saturday, June 14 at the Farm Bureau building; Father's day, Sunday, June 15;

MT. GILEAD

The Mt. Gilead Church will be holding service at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, June 15, 2014.

Don't miss the day, it will be a beautiful day (I hope). The view across from the church is beautiful. At times when I'm down hearted, I go to the church just to sit, enjoy the view and let my mind turn back to normal.

To give you something to think about the sermon will be, "Wow to Me."

See you on June 15.

MT. MORIAH

It looks like we will be to be back in our church building in a week or so. The building project will not be completed but we will be able to use the sanctuary.

Bro. Breeden spoke on "faith." Faith must be authentic. Faith is a shield to protect us from danger. Faith must go into "action."

Our men and boys' camp out has been changed to a "family night." There will be a fish fry and covered dish dinner followed by cowboy church. It will be held at 6 p.m., June 27 at Judy Hammond's home.

We congratulate Lyle Stephens on winning the science fair. We also congratulate Jane and Omer Bentle on the their 60th wedding anniversary.

Our high school graduates were recognized on Sunday and each one was presented a Bible. They are Jacob Ammerman, Austin Davis, Hannah Fields, Shelby McCann and Dillon Wright. We wish them Godspeed.

Our prayer list includes Barbara Singer, Myron Doan, Linda Grizell and David Lovelace Sr. We extend sympathy to the families of Mary Courtney and Colletta Stahl.

"Faith comes from hearing the message and the message is heard through the word of Christ." Romans 10:17

Stay cool!

NEW ZION

Our deepest sympathies go out to Judy Downard and family on the passing of Terry Downard. A memorial service was held last Sunday evening.

Construction will soon begin on New Zion Baptist Church. Please pray for our church as we expand.

Please remember in prayer Janet Bishop, Danielle Klaber, Tina Cochran, Lois Combs, Pam Bruin, Amy Davidson, Mark Branham and Barbara Singer. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

BCHS grads were Gena Brumley, Adam Brothers, Owen Bell, Steven Cummins and Kristian Ruark. Audrey Ramsey was a Harrison County grad. College grads were Emily Moore, Allyson M. Hopp and Leanna Crawford. God bless them all in their next phase of life.

We rejoice in the recent baptisms of Delanie and Ethan Aulick. We pray God's blessings on these young people.

Congratulations to Allyson Moore and Jon Hopp upon their recent marriage.

VBS is 6:30 p.m., June 19-22.

Prayer concerns include Juanita King, Henry Bertram, Pam Bruin (recent heart surgery), Margaret Harper, Christine Biddle, Valerie Redden, Judy Redden, Dorothy Herron, Joyce and Melvin Mains, Myron Doan, Donna Peoples, Elaine Hart, Juanita Bentle, shut-ins, armed forces and our leaders. Our sympathy to the loved ones of Daryl Roberts and Mary Courtney.

PINE GROVE

Things are normal now with Carol and David recovering from their illnesses and again being an active part of our church family.

Carol is continuing her sermons from the book of Hebrews.

During the sermon, several praise reports were given with Chris Strunk, Marlene Clause, and Judy Redden being added to our prayer concerns.

On the Sunday prior to Father's Day, the United Methodist women will honor the men of the church by entertaining them at Gina's Cozy Café in Mt. Auburn.

Our Dream Kids will meet at the church at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., Friday, June 20. They will continue with music, spiritual lesson, a craft and a pizza lunch.

The U.M.W. will meet at 9 a.m., June 23 at the home of Hilda Wright to work on crafts for or future sales.

A hymn sing is being planned for 6 p.m., June 28. If you would like to be a part of this event, call Millie Blades at 859-472-3163. This is to be a fun time and we would love for you to be a part of our evening.

We cordially invite you to these activities and to our 10:15 a.m., Sunday morning worship service. God's blessings.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Mark your calendars. VBS Sunday, July 13 thru Friday, July 18.

Bro. Rick's message was from John 10: 28 and 29 titled, "Once saved always saved."

And I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; neither shall anyone snatch them out of My hand. My Father, who has given them to Me is greater than all; and no one is able to snatch them out of My Father's hand.

Jesus with God's direction had done many miracles. The Jewish leaders did not believe He was the Messiah. They did not believe because they were not a part of His flock. Jesus said His flock recognize my voice and I know them and they follow me.

Jesus Christ gives eternal life to His sheep. And it can't be taken away from you.

Sunday evening Bible study will be from various books of the Bible on Christian belief.

TRINITY

"He is Jehovah! He is God Almighty!" What a great praise song the worship service this past week. Thank you Bro. Ron for your leadership with our choir and congregational singing.

Philip held the children's sermon and showed the kids ears of corn. We can relate the many purposes of corn with our Heavenly Father. The children laughed at the thought of corn having ears.

Our sermon was part two "Not Ashamed" from Romans 1. Christians stand firm in your faith. Repentance and confessions are daily tasks. Fill yourself with the Holy Spirit and let Him convict you and guide you daily.

Our Sunday school picnic was enjoyable time after the morning worship time.

Don't forget VBS, June 22-27. Also, plans are in the works for a pool party for the summer. Don't forget Tuesday night visitation and Wednesday Bible study.

TURNER RIDGE

The last two Sundays have been very special at Turner Ridge. May 25 we recognized our veterans, we had seven veterans in our service and are very proud of the time they served their country.

This past Sunday, June 1 was senior Sunday; we also had seven seniors graduating from Pendleton County High School. They were presented a Bible from the church by Bro. Dale and following the morning service we had lunch in their honor.

Bailey Boden read scripture and Brandon Gregg brought special music. The children's message from Bro. Dale was about David and how with God's help he battled and killed the giant.

Remember those who need prayer in our community.

he incurred no pain (for the first time) after physical rehabilitation procedures. This week the report is he is feeling much better and rehabilitation continues to produce positive results. Rebecca Ammerman competes in 2014 Boston Marathon

By Karen Hyden, Reporter

Rebecca Ammerman proudly represented Falmouth, Kentucky in the 118th Boston Marathon. "The Boston Marathon 2014 was so amazing!" exclaimed Rebecca. "The experience started for me on Sunday, the day before the marathon, at the number pick up expo. Dick Hoyt, of Team Hoyt, was there. He is such an inspirational person, and I not only got to meet Dick Hoyt, but he actually hugged me!"

She says the Boston Marathon, her 24th full marathon, was not like any other race she'd ever participated in. Starting in Wave 2, Coral 9, she was in the center of 36,000 runners. Thousands of people were rows deep, cheering loudly and encouraging the runners, for the full 26.2 miles of the race.

Security was everywhere, police in uniform, police out of uniform, U.S. Marshalls, and military were everywhere. "The race was very secure and very organized. Not for one second did I feel scared," said the enthused runner.

As she ran, Rebecca thought of all the hard work and determination it had taken for her to get there. What started in 2003 as an effort to get in better physical condition and improve her overall health had become a road of challenges for her. It was during her first years of running, that she first heard about the Boston Marathon. A run that was then a far distance away.

What she heard was that it was a race for elite runners and that not just anybody could sign up and run it, but that you had to qualify—meaning you had to run a marathon (26.2 miles) in a set time determined for your age and gender in order to get in. The time Rebecca needed to qualify was 3:45 (three hours, 45 minutes).

Running her first marathon at 5:17 and cutting that time down to 4:04 by 2009 made her believe the impossible dream of qualifying for the Boston Marathon was a reality. Increasing her running and training, while working a full time job and raising a teenager, she pushed for her goal. In 2010, Rebecca had a setback caused from the intense training.

Having to start over in 2011, she was able to run the Columbus Marathon in the fall and still had the dream of running the Boston Marathon. In October of 2012, Rebecca ran the Steamtown Marathon in Scranton, Pennsylvania in a time just four minutes and 42 seconds shy of her needed time for Boston. She followed that up at the Indy Marathon just three weeks later with a time close but not close enough. There were those who thought she should give up on her dream of Boston. But she wasn't quite ready to throw in the towel.

On Saturday, February 16, Rebecca ran the Myrtle Beach Marathon in a time of 3:43:51, one minute and nine seconds faster than needed to qualify for the Boston Marathon. This was her first qualifying marathon, but because of the bombings, to be able to participate in Boston 2014, a faster than qualifying time by 1 minute 36 seconds was required. She pushed herself and was able to qualify Louisville, San Diego, and Marquette. The marathon that she ran in Marquette, Michigan was the marathon that sealed the deal for her, a qualifying time of 3:31:43. Her dream was going to happen.

Monday, April 21, Rebecca reaped the reward of her years of training and pushing herself to excel. Supported by her best friend, Traci, and thousands of strangers, she ran the race of a lifetime. After the race, she and Traci were walking down the streets of Boston with people calling out words of praise. A Red Sox game had just let out and they were walking into crowds of people from the game. Rebecca was wrapped in foil with her medal hung around her neck.

"It was like almost everyone was cheering for me again!" shared Rebecca. "I even heard one girl say, 'You're my hero!' Wow! They had no idea who I was or how I did, but they were making me feel like a complete rock star!"

As we past restaurants, people were sitting outside to eat and they were cheering for me too, offering to buy me food or something to drink. The people couldn't have been any more appreciative to have runners there to run their marathon."

Even more importantly was the message she got from her family. They'd been watching the marathon on television and seen her there. Her mother told her that she and her father were proud of her.

"To hear that, and to know that my sisters were proud of me, and to be able to have my best friend there with me made the Boston Marathon experience the BEST experience of my life."

Running the 2014 marathon with timing that qualified her for the 2015 Boston Marathon, this was an experience to hopefully be repeated. Once again, Falmouth's "rock star" runner will be making the home folks Kentucky Proud.

Communication is an important part of 4-H youth development

If you ask many 4-H alumni to name one of the most valuable life skills they learned during their 4-H careers, many would list the confidence gained through participating in communications projects. 4-H youth development strives to equip the young people with the knowledge and skills they need to become successful adults. Effective communication and public speaking skills are vital to tomorrow's leaders.

Communications projects include activities such as speech and demonstration projects. In speech competitions, 4-H'ers research and present information on a topic of interest to them. In demonstration projects, they explain how to complete a specific task of their choosing. Through mock job interviews, senior 4-H'ers can gain skills that may one day land them their dream job.

Participation in speech and demonstration contests helps 4-H'ers master communication skills, become more independent, gain self-esteem and generously share their expertise. As they develop their projects, young people sharpen their critical thinking and organizational skills.

More than 300 of 4-H's most effective communicators will showcase their public speaking abilities as they compete during the 4-H State Communications Day July 12 on the University of Kentucky campus. The event is sponsored by the Kentucky Corn Growers' Association. Many of the participants have qualified for this day by winning either a speech or demonstration competition at the county level.

Allie Redden will represent Pendleton County during the state 4-H Communications Day. Good luck, Allie!

4-H wants young people to be confident, whether they are speaking in front of a small group or a large auditorium. For more information on how your young person can become involved with 4-H communication projects, contact the Pendleton County office of the UK Cooperative Extension Service.

Heat's effect on older adults

Summer is upon us, and temperatures are beginning to heat up. While that may be welcome news for many, combinations of high humidity and excessive heat can be dangerous for others, especially older adults.

When a person's body cannot properly cool itself, it increases the risks for heat-related illnesses. Older adults are more susceptible to hyperthermia, a common heat-related illness that results in a dangerously high body temperature. The most common form of hyperthermia is heatstroke. Heatstroke occurs when a person's body temperature reaches 104 degrees Fahrenheit or higher. Prolonged exposure to hot temperatures and high humidity, existing health problems, some medications and being older increase the risk of heatstroke. When body temperature rises above 107 degrees, it can be fatal.

Older adults are more susceptible to hyperthermia, because sweat glands, which normally help regulate the body's temperature, often diminish in number, while those remaining may not function as well. This slows older adults' ability to properly regulate their temperature. Certain medical conditions common to old age such as diabetes, dehydration, and heart, kidney and central nervous systems diseases can further decrease the body's ability to regulate temperature. Normal age-related skin changes can also make it more difficult for older adults to regulate their body temperature and adjust to extreme heat.

Older adults are at additional risks for heat-related illnesses, if they are overweight, underweight, drink alcoholic beverages, live in homes without fans or air conditioners, go outside on hot and humid days, and overdress or wear the wrong type of fabrics in hot weather.

On hot, humid days, older adults are highly encouraged to stay inside in an air-conditioned or well-ventilated building. It is important to note that fans alone may not produce enough cooling effect on extremely hot days to help individuals regulate body temperature. Those without air conditioners should take cool baths or showers and seek accommodations that offer cool air, such as the home of a family member or friend, a church or a community center. Other air-conditioned places that can help a person escape from the heat include malls, grocery stores, public libraries or heat-relief shelters.

Individuals can also reduce their risk for heat-related illnesses by limiting outdoor physical activity on hot days to the early morning or late evening, wearing light-weight, light colored and loose fitting clothes, wide-brimmed hats and sunscreen. Those who must work outdoors during extremely hot and humid weather should take frequent breaks if possible in a shaded area.

Regardless of age, it is never a good idea to sit or stay in a vehicle on a hot day. Temperatures inside an enclosed parked car can get as much as 19 degrees warmer than the outside temperature in just 10 minutes and reach 45-50 degrees warmer than outdoors within an hour.

It is always important to check on older friends, relatives and neighbors during extreme heat to make sure they are weathering the heat well.

More information on health topics is available at the Pendleton County office of the UK Cooperative Extension Service.

How to prevent insect problems in stored wheat

It's usually much cheaper to prevent a problem on the farm than to fix one.

This experience certainly applies to insect infestations in stored wheat. Under the right environmental conditions, even small infestations can grow to profit-robbing proportions that cost you hundreds or even thousands of dollars in pest treatment expenses or elevator discounts.

The best way to avoid insect problems in stored wheat is to follow preventive management practices from harvest until you deliver the crop for sale. These steps include conscientious equipment management before, during and after harvest and good sanitation practices. Other safeguards are thoroughly drying the crop, timely aeration, and frequently checking grain condition.

Your first step is to thoroughly clean all equipment that wheat will pass through from the field to the storage bin. This list includes combines, grain carts, trucks or gravity wagons, dump pits, transport augers or bucket elevators, hopper tanks, dryers, conveyors and storage bins. Use a small, wet-dry vacuum cleaner for hard-to-reach ledges and other areas on this equipment.

If you used a high-pressure sprayer or compressed air to clean combines and hauling vehicles last fall, inspect them for places you might have missed during cleaning. Pay close attention to areas in the rear of the combine where insects could overwinter in small pockets of debris or grain dust. Also remove grain dust that might have accumulated in the corners of hauling vehicle beds.

If you plan to use the first load of wheat to clean handling equipment, be sure to keep this grain separate and sell it soon after harvest no matter what the price. It's better to lose a few cents on several hundred bushels than risk infecting an entire bin of wheat worth several thousand dollars.

Alternatively, you may choose to treat the first load of wheat with a grain protectant. This will help control insects in the incoming wheat, and aid in prevention of movement of insects upward from beneath the perforated floor. Though using a grain protectant can be expensive, choosing to treat the first and last loads can be a good investment. Insecticides labeled for this use are listed at the end of ENT- 47, Insecticide Recommendations for Small Grains, found online at: <http://pest.ca.uky.edu/EXT/Recs/>

ENT47-SmallGrain.pdf or at your county extension office. Always follow insecticide label use and storage instructions.

The most cost-effective way to protect stored grain from insects is to follow good sanitation practices in and around the bin. Use a broom shovel and wet-dry vacuum to thoroughly clean the bin and apply an insecticide to all interior surfaces before adding wheat to the bin. This very important step goes a long way to protect grain from insects during the first few critical months of storage.

Always follow insecticide label use and storage instructions. Remember that some products require a time delay between spraying and putting grain into the storage bin.

The few hours of time and energy you spend on cleaning and sanitation will go much further than other more costly options.

Here are some more practices for economical insect control in stored wheat: Harvest wheat at a manageable moisture level for your particular operation. Harvest at a moisture level of 15 percent or lower if heated-air drying isn't available.

Adjust combines before and during harvest to reduce kernel damage and limit trash.

Dry wheat to 12.5 percent moisture content if you plan to hold it a month or longer.

Clean wheat before storing it.

Unload enough wheat to form an inverted cone in the top of the bin to provide uniform air flow through the grain.

If you've had consistent problems with Indian meal moth, you might want to apply an approved cap-out treatment to the top 12 inches of wheat.

Frequently inspect stored wheat for insect activity and changes in temperature or moisture.

Use fans to cool stored wheat after drying as soon as possible in September and at least once a month during the fall to cool grain below 55 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fumigate by an approved applicator only when sanitation, proper drying and aeration fail to control insect activity.

Following these preventative management practices requires a lot of work and diligence, but your rewards will be fewer insect problems during storage and lower discounts when you sell the grain.

For more information on wheat storage, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Chocolate cake recipe by the Amish Cook

The Amish Cook
By Lovina Eicher

over-water them or not enough.

Our family had a very nice relaxing Memorial Day weekend. We left at 4:30 a.m., on Saturday morning bound for Mackinac Island. We stayed at a motel in St. Ignace on Saturday night. Sunday morning we took the ferry over to the island and spent the day there. It gave us all some history lessons. One of our highlights was driving over the Mackinac Bridge that connects the Lower Peninsula to the Upper Peninsula. We even saw patches of snow still on the island. The ferry ride was chilly as we wanted to set on top deck. It was quite a different experience: The wonders of God's creations. We have often heard of Mackinac Bridge and Island. But not until you see it can you really grasp the wonders of it. When I asked the children what the highlight of their trip was I get different answers such as the ferry, the bridge, the pool at the motel. I don't think anyone mentioned the island as their favorite part.

Loretta was very wore out from all the walking. Finally we talked to the man at the livery stable and he let us rent their buckboard wagon and Ned, a big workhorse. The wagon had three seats and could seat all of us. We took in a lot more scenery after that and rode around the island for two hours.

When we arrived back to St. Ignace the children wanted to go swimming again. The pool relaxed them all, especially Loretta. They also had a hot tub and that relaxed her muscles. Loretta can swim and that is an exercise that she is able to do. Water relaxes her muscles.

We arrived back home safe and sound Monday around 3 p.m. It was a very nice family trip that will have good memories in years to come. How often do we take our good health for granted. Having a daughter that needs extra time to get around puts us back to a slower pace. It makes us appreciate our health and gives us a sympathetic view of other people with handicaps. The island wasn't very handicapped accessible but we are glad we all were able to see it. Seeing is believing.

I think there were a lot of people on the island that never heard of or seen Amish before. We were stared at, asked questions, laughed at and lots of pictures were snapped. We all have the same God so we aren't quite so different after all. Curiosity tends to sometimes bring out rudeness from some people but may God bless and forgive each one of them.

This is the cake we made for Lovina's birthday. We put it in a horse-shoe shaped pan.

Ingredients:

- 3 cups flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup cocoa
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
- 1 cup shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup boiling water

Directions:

Mix all ingredients adding water last. Bake at 350 for 30-40 minutes.

David dreams of better tomorrows.

Despite having colon cancer, David dreams big. Of a day when cutting-edge research and aggressive treatment mean the end to cancer as we know it. Well, David, that day may come sooner than you think. Harrison Memorial Hospital, a member of the University of Kentucky Markey Cancer Center Affiliate Network, is bringing world-class cancer care right to your hometown. Recently designated a National Cancer Institute cancer center, UK Markey Cancer Center has gained access to millions in research funding and collaboration with other NCI centers. Partner that with HMH's surgical team, and David's fight against colon cancer just got a whole lot stronger.

Leveraging our resources through the NCI means having a greater impact on cancer here in Cynthiana. Remember, David, to achieve big you have to dream big.
